

97TH ANNUAL HONORS CONVOCATION

MARCH 15, 2020

2:00 P.M.

HILL AUDITORIUM

This year marks the 97th Honors Convocation held at the University of Michigan since the first was instituted on May 13, 1924, by President Marion LeRoy Burton. On these occasions, the University publicly recognizes and commends the undergraduate students in its schools and colleges who have earned distinguished academic records or have excelled as leaders in the community. It is with great pride that the University honors those students who have most clearly and effectively demonstrated academic excellence, dynamic leadership, and inspirational volunteerism. The Honors Convocation ranks with the Commencement Exercises as among the most important ceremonies of the University year.

The names of the students who are honored for outstanding achievement this year appear in this program. They include all students who have earned University Honors in both Winter 2019 and Fall 2019, plus all seniors who have earned University Honors in either Winter 2019 or Fall 2019. The William J. Branstrom Freshman Prize recipients are listed, as well – recognizing first year undergraduate students whose academic achievement during their first semester on campus place them in the upper five percent of their school or college class. James B. Angell Scholars – students who receive all “A” grades over consecutive terms – are given a special place in the program. In addition, the student speaker is recognized individually for exemplary contributions to the University community.

To all honored students, and to their parents, the University extends its hearty congratulations.

Susan M. Collins • Acting Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

Honored Students
Honored Faculty
Faculty Colleagues and Friends of the University

It is a pleasure to welcome you to the 97th University of Michigan Honors Convocation. On behalf of the academic leaders on the Ann Arbor, Dearborn, and Flint campuses, I thank you for joining us today.

The Honors Convocation is an important university tradition that recognizes and celebrates the outstanding academic achievements of undergraduate students from all three of our campuses.

Today we are proud to honor students who exemplify academic excellence. We recognize their intellectual curiosity and their dedication to thinking critically about the material they study. These students have demonstrated a passion for learning — challenging themselves, and their teachers, with tough questions and innovative ideas that stretch the boundaries of knowledge and open new pathways for exploration.

The University's mission statement includes our commitment to "developing leaders who will challenge the present and enrich the future." The students we honor today give life to that commitment through their purposeful engagement with the world.

Today we also honor a group of distinguished faculty members who have joined us for this ceremony. Recently recognized by the University for their outstanding teaching and scholarship, they represent the many individuals in our community who inspire, challenge, and support our students.

As we congratulate our students, we also recognize, with deep appreciation, the parents, family members, and friends who have nurtured and supported these impressive students. The University of Michigan shares the pride you feel in their accomplishments. With you, we look forward to the contributions they will make to the future.

Congratulations and Welcome!

HONORS CONVOCATION SPEAKERS

Emily Russell

Senior, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Emily Russell, a senior from St. Clair, Michigan, and a James B. Angell Scholar in the Honors Program, is majoring in political science and the Program in the Environment in the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts.

Emily has been actively engaged in research on international law, conflict, and peace throughout her time at Michigan. She also strives to make her research findings accessible to broader audiences through storytelling and playwriting. For her honors thesis on postcolonial security force structure and state violence, she searched The British Library archives in London in person; interviewed scholars, journalists, and militants throughout India; and worked as a research associate at the Trivedi Centre for Political Data in New Delhi. She also examined links between disarmament and human rights as an intern at the Icelandic Human Rights Centre in Reykjavik. In 2019, she received a Davis Projects for Peace Fellowship, which she used to cofound Playwriting for Peace, a summer-long creative arts workshop for secondary students in Pristina, Kosovo. Emily writes for the Michigan Journal of International Affairs and The Michigan Daily. She has authored several plays, including Beat (2020), which won a Hopwood Award. Beat will be performed this spring at the School of Music, Theatre & Dance Playfest. Emily, a recipient of the prestigious Beinecke Scholarship for graduate study, plans to pursue a doctorate in political science and advance international peacebuilding through her research.

Timothy A. McKay

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Physics, and Astronomy
Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts
Professor of Education
School of Education

Professor McKay, a University of Michigan faculty member since 1995, was named a Thurnau Professor in 2005 in recognition of his outstanding teaching and contributions to undergraduate education. Among other honors, he has received several LSA Excellence in Education Awards, the Class of 1923 Memorial Teaching Award, Amoco Undergraduate Teaching Award, and Provost's Teaching Innovation Prize. He holds a bachelor's degree from Temple University and a doctorate in physics from the University of Chicago. A highly regarded data scientist, he works primarily with large data sets in the fields of astrophysics and education. His discoveries have enhanced understanding of the nature of cosmic structure and expansion of the universe, and resulted in better, more strategic educational experiences for Michigan students. He helped create and served as faculty director of U-M's Digital Innovation Greenhouse, an education technology accelerator where instructors and software developers build and scale educational tools. He championed and led a U-M initiative that employs evidence-based methods to make introductory science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) courses more inclusive and equitable. He also created ECoach, an electronic coaching system that allows instructors to personalize their communications with thousands of students. Professor McKay directed the Honors Program from 2008 to 2016. As associate dean for undergraduate education, he oversees more than 20 units in LSA's Division of Undergraduate Education, including study abroad, learning communities, and undergraduate research. Nationally, he is an American Association for the Advancement of Science fellow and director of the Sloan Equity and Inclusion in STEM Introductory Courses project.

RHODES, MARSHALL, AND CHURCHILL SCHOLARSHIPS

Rhodes, Marshall, and Churchill Scholarships are among the world's most prestigious academic awards for graduate students. Since the estate of British philanthropist Cecil John Rhodes established Rhodes Scholarships in 1904, 27 University of Michigan alumni have studied as Rhodes Scholars at Oxford University. Thirty-two Americans are named Rhodes Scholars each year.

Marshall Scholarships, founded by an Act of Parliament in 1953, finance opportunities for young American scholars of high ability to study in the United Kingdom. The scholarship commemorates the humane ideals of the European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan) and funds one or two years of study. Thirty-one Marshall Scholarships are awarded annually to American students who demonstrate potential to excel as scholars, as leaders, and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding.

The Churchill Scholarship started in 1963 with three awards and has since grown to 14. It provides funding to American students for a year of Master's study in science, mathematics, and engineering at the University of Cambridge, based at Churchill College. The scholarship was set up at the request of Sir Winston Churchill in order to fulfil his vision of US-UK scientific exchange with the goal of advancing science and technology on both sides of the Atlantic, helping to ensure our future prosperity and security. The Churchill Scholarship has been called the most academically challenging of the UK scholarships. In total, 13 students from Michigan have been named Churchill Scholars.

We proudly recognize the following students who were endorsed by the University of Michigan this year:

Evan Binkley College of Literature, Science, and the Arts	Marshall Recipient

RAOUL WALLENBERG FELLOWSHIP

Inspired by the spirit of Raoul Wallenberg, the Wallenberg Fellowship is awarded in the spring of each year to a graduating senior of exceptional promise and accomplishment who is committed to service and the public good. The fellowship provides $25,000 to carry out an independent project of learning or exploration anywhere in the world during the year after graduation. The Fellow will engage in a self-designed and self-directed area of exploration or project of experiential learning. Through an active and immersive year-long experience, and by connecting in meaningful ways with the lives of other people and communities, the Wallenberg Fellow will prepare to make a difference in the world.

The Fellowship honors Raoul Wallenberg (B.S. Arch. '35), one of the most illustrious graduates of the University of Michigan. At U-M, Wallenberg was recognized for the excellence of his academic work, his eagerness for knowledge of the world and for understanding others, and for his intrepid independence and resourcefulness. He left Ann Arbor resolved to be actively engaged in life. Ten years later, as a Swedish diplomat during World War II, Wallenberg coordinated the rescue of tens of thousands of Jews in Budapest. He disappeared after he was arrested by Soviet authorities. One of the great heroes of the 20th century, Raoul Wallenberg shows that even under the most daunting circumstances, one person can make a difference.

The University of Michigan would like to express its deep appreciation to U-M parents Jon and Lili Bosse and U-M alumnus Bert Askwith (B.A. '31). Jon and Lilli Bosse's generous gift initiated the Wallenberg Fellowship in 2013. In 2014, Bert Askwith generously created the Mary Sue Coleman Endowed Fund for the Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship to support future generations of Michigan students who are inspired by Wallenberg's legacy, and to honor President Coleman's leadership during her tenure at U-M.

The Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship recipient and finalists this year are:

2020 THURNAU PROFESSORS

The Thurnau Professorships were established in 1988 to recognize and reward faculty for outstanding contributions to undergraduate education. The professorships honor tenured faculty members who, through their commitment and investment in undergraduate teaching, have had a positive impact on the intellectual development and lives of students.

Arthur F. Thurnau, for whom the Thurnau Professorship is named, attended the University of Michigan from fall of 1902 until spring of 1904. He studied a liberal arts curriculum, but he did not graduate. This was not uncommon for the time, and although his three brothers also attended the University of Michigan, only one of them graduated. In his two years here, Arthur completed 58 credits of French, German, history, English, rhetoric, politics, and economics. He also was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and sang in the Freshmen Glee Club.

Arthur later returned to Chicago, and worked as an “ad man,” selling advertising space in various magazines and newspapers. In this role, he eventually rose to the position of vice president and western manager for the firm Paul Block, Inc. He was actively involved in U-M alumni events in Chicago, even trying to arrange a football game between the Wolverines and the University of Chicago Maroons during that period of time when Chicago was part of the Big Ten Conference and Michigan was not. He also put his organizational talents to work during World War II by creating events to encourage the sale of government bonds.

Arthur Thurnau’s generosity to the University of Michigan began in 1966, and continued through the rest of his life. Upon his death in 1979, his estate created the Thurnau Charitable Trust to support the University of Michigan. Since 1988, these funds have been used to support the Thurnau Professorships. Thurnau Professors receive $20,000 grants to support activities that enhance teaching. It is this important recognition for faculty that Arthur F. Thurnau so generously provided for and that the University of Michigan celebrates. The University is pleased to recognize this year’s Thurnau Professors.

Miranda D. Brown

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Asian Languages and Cultures
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Brown's department chair describes her as "the driving force" behind the expansion of the undergraduate curriculum in the Department of Asian Languages and Cultures. She has created models that other faculty have successfully replicated for developing new courses on contemporary topics that draw a rich array of students. Her classrooms bring together domestic and international students, and business and engineering as well as LSA students. Her creative and collaborative teaching strategies bridge these disciplinary and cultural divides, encouraging participants to share their knowledge and skills in ways that contribute to the learning of all. A former student reflected on the success of this approach, noting that in Professor Brown's course "every student was eager to contribute to the conversation," and that the environment was conducive to the success not only of majors, but of students from all levels and fields of study. Awards for her significant contributions to undergraduate education reflect not only her superb teaching but also her skillful and generous mentorship. Professor Brown has helped numerous students "discover their own passions" by connecting them to readings, resources, and networks. She also informally mentors many students of Asian descent and helps both the department and the broader campus better understand the impact that experiences of exclusion and marginalization have on this community.

Gyorgyi Csankovszki

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Associate Professor of Molecular, Cellular, and Developmental Biology
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Csankovszki has a long track record of dedication to continuously improving biology teaching, both as an individual instructor and through departmental service roles. Her students report that her courses teach them to think critically, revolutionizing their understanding of biology and increasing their desire to continue in the field. She has been the principal investigator or co-PI for three grants to integrate innovative teaching techniques in large courses of 400-550 undergraduate students. Faculty colleagues and students point to multiple ways that she "recognizes student needs and pushes to get them fixed," such as replacing costly textbook quizzes with questions written by local instructors and housed in Canvas, adjusting the curriculum by adding a 200-level cell biology course to bridge a daunting gap between introductory and 400-level courses, establishing guidelines for undergraduate advising, and launching a new Biology, Health, and Society major. Most recently, Professor Csankovszki championed bringing BIO 172, a crucial gateway course serving majors in biology and other sciences, into the Foundational Course Initiative, where she is working with colleagues to pilot and test innovations to increase student success, particularly for underrepresented minority and first generation college students. Professor Csankovszki creates welcoming and inclusive environments well beyond the classroom, as is evident in the tally of 26 undergraduate student research assistants whom she has mentored.

John Montgomery

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Margaret and Herman Sokol Professor of Medicinal Chemistry
Professor of Chemistry
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Already an accomplished professor with an active and highly successful research group when he joined U-M in 2005, Professor Montgomery consistently earns outstanding reviews from undergraduate students who enroll by the hundreds in the gateway organic chemistry sequence of CHEM 210 and 215. Through his service on numerous committees aimed at making the department and U-M more inclusive, he recognized the challenges that these fast-paced courses can pose to students, particularly those from under-resourced high schools. In response, Professor Montgomery created CHEM 209, a companion course running concurrently with CHEM 210. Exit surveys indicated that the small sections and personalized mentoring students receive in CHEM 209 dramatically increased their confidence and persistence. As a result, the college plans to fund the course each fall and winter, and a similar companion course will be developed for CHEM 215. Other teaching strategies that Professor Montgomery has assessed, documented, and disseminated include his use of lecture capture to record not only lectures but also office hours, which he reframed as “open discussions.” Students with child care responsibilities and/or inflexible work schedules particularly praise the latter innovation, which, like lecture capture, also benefits students with disabilities, athletes who must travel to competitions, and those who experience medical issues or family emergencies.

Susan Scott Parrish

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of English Language and Literature
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

In her 21 years of award-winning work with undergraduate students at U-M, Professor Parrish has established a remarkable record of imaginative teaching, inspired mentorship, and innovative curricular development. Administratively, she has proved to be a deft facilitator of faculty discussions that have reshaped the curriculum not only in English, but in three other programs: LSA Honors, the Program in the Environment (PiE), and the New England Literature Program. In addition to diversifying course content, she has led faculty conversations about how best to mentor the Graduate Student Instructors (GSIs) who teach undergraduate sections, generating documentation that now serves other departments as a model. Professor Parrish’s own teaching repertoire of 16 very highly-rated courses encompasses both small seminars and large lectures, as well as both broad surveys and focused topics. She excels in creating an atmosphere in which difficult topics are confronted and discussed frankly among students from varying racial, geographic, and economic backgrounds. She designs boundary-crossing courses like Literature and the Environment that juxtapose the perspectives of students majoring in English, PiE, and engineering. One student attests that the practice of closely reading “texts” that include not only written words, but also museum artifacts and physical spaces, made her “a more critical thinker with a sense of being more deeply engaged with the world around me.”

Angela Violi

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Mechanical Engineering
Professor of Chemical Engineering
College of Engineering
Professor of Biophysics
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Violi comprehensively supports her students in finding ways to think innovatively, take chances, and find passion in their work. A stellar interdisciplinary researcher who also routinely teaches the most important core courses in mechanical engineering, she has a sustained record of top teaching evaluations and awards for teaching excellence. At the curricular level, Professor Violi has created new courses on energy processes and introduced powerful computational methods that position students to be leaders in the international engineering community. Through the Sweetland Seminar for Engaged Learning, she embraced write-to-learn pedagogies that promote students' deep conceptual understanding of fundamental thermodynamics principles and sharpen key scientific skills of inquiry, abstraction, synthesis, and the ability to express results. Recognized as an outstanding mentor, she has directed 30 undergraduate projects, and many of her mentees present co-authored work at professional conferences. Students credit Professor Violi's Sunday afternoon supplemental learning sessions with cultivating "a cohesive group of people learning together and supporting each other" while discussing topics in depth. Such efforts help retain talented U-M students from diverse backgrounds, and Professor Violi's commitment to addressing pipeline issues also includes development of modules on machine learning and nanoparticles for middle and high school students in Detroit Public Schools.

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOM

The colorful gowns and hoods worn by faculty members at commencement and other academic ceremonies represent the degrees, disciplines, and alma maters of the wearers. The American academic costume tradition, imported from England, dates to Colonial days.

Gowns

Bachelor's or master's degree gowns traditionally are black, as are many doctoral gowns in the United States. Some universities prescribe that their graduates wear gowns of another solid color such as blue, crimson, or green. Gowns differ in sleeve cut and trim. For example, the bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves while the master's gown has oblong sleeves. Doctoral gowns, with their distinctive bell-shaped sleeves, feature velvet panels down the front and around the neck, as well as crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. Colored trim denotes the field or discipline in which the degree was earned. Usually only a single degree from one institution is indicated by a garment. If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher or highest degree usually are worn.

Hoods

The hood most precisely describes the wearer's level of degree earned, the major field of learning, and the alma mater. The level of the degree held is indicated by the hood's shape and size and the width of its velvet or velveteen trimming. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are 36 inches, 42 inches, and 48 inches long, respectively. The velvet trim is two, three, and five inches wide, with the narrowest being for the bachelor's hood and the widest for the doctor's hood. The color of trim on the hood, as on the gown, identifies the major field of learning in which the degree was awarded. The hood is lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

Caps

Caps vary in style from the traditional black mortarboard to eight-, six-, and four-corner tams, and Elizabethan-style caps. The mortarboard may be of any appropriate material, such as cotton, poplin, rayon, or silk, to match the gown. Velvet is reserved for holders of doctorates.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The University's mace is a symbol of academic scholarship, integrity, and authority. It is carried by the chair of the University Senate at the head of academic processions on such important ceremonial occasions as commencements, convocations, and inaugurations, representing the connection of all faculty members to important academic rituals. The mace being used today was given to the University in 1968 by the Senior Board, representing all the undergraduate schools and colleges. Crafted of red oak and trimmed with silver, the mace features the seals of the University and of the State of Michigan. Also engraved on the mace are the names of the University Presidents.

Thank you for attending this program. The University of Michigan strives to create a truly open forum, one in which diverse opinions can be expressed and heard.

It is the right of members of the University community, speakers, artists, and other invited guests to express their views and opinions at the University. We will protect the right of individuals to speak or perform, and the rights of those members of the University community who wish to hear and communicate with an invited speaker or artist.

Protesters also have a right to express their opposition to a speaker in appropriate ways, both within the confines of this building and outside the facility. However, protesters must not interfere unduly with communication between a speaker or artist and members of the audience.

If the warnings are not heeded and the interference continues, then the individuals responsible may be removed from the building.

We reaffirm these policies in order to most fully protect the rights of free expression for speakers, performers, and protesters alike, as set forth by our Civil Liberties Board in our Student Handbook, and in accordance with the U-M Standard Practice Guide; Regents' Ordinance Article XII, Section 1; and state statutes.

THE YELLOW AND BLUE

Sing to the colors that float in the light;
Hurrah for the Yellow and Blue!

Yellow the stars as they ride thro' the night,
And reel in a rollicking crew;

Yellow the fields where ripens the grain,
And Yellow the moon on the harvest wain;

Hail!

Hail to the colors that float in the light;
Hurrah for the Yellow and Blue!
